What is Redistricting?

2

Every 10 years, local governments use new data from the census to redraw their district lines to reflect how local populations have changed.

School districts must ensure that their district boundaries continue to be in population balance. If districts are out of balance, they must be adjusted or redrawn to bring them into balance.

The primary goal when developing election districts is to draw lines that respect neighborhoods, history and geographical elements.

The final map of districts will be used for Cajon Valley school district elections for the next 10 years starting in 2022.

Options for the Board

Because the current Cajon Valley districts have a population deviation range of less than 10%, they are considered balanced and do not need to be redrawn to comply with the federal equal population requirement.

As a results, the Board of Trustee's options include:

- Continue through the hearing process and re-adopt the of less 8.6(do)ana

Key Questions/Input:

- û What are important neighborhoods and communities of interest within the Cajon Valley Union School District that should be kept together to ensure “effective and fair representation?”
- û How well do the current districts serve the needs of the of the School District?

Communities of Interest

Under the California Elections Code, “community of interest” has a very specific definition in the context of districting and redistricting cities and counties:

A “community of interest” is a population that shares common social or economic interests that should be included within a single district for purposes of its effective and fair representation.

Communities of interest do not include relationships with political parties, incumbents, or political candidates.
